STATE COLLEGE MAN IS KILLED BY LIVE WIRE

R. H. Shuey Meets Sudden Death in Distressing Accident.

FELL FROM HIGH POLE

A distressing accident occurred at State College last Friday morning about 11.30 o'clock when R. H. Shuey, of that place, met instant death. He was in the employ of the State-Centre Electric Company and at the time was repairing electric wires twenty-five feet from the ground, on a pole located one square south of Snyder's garage. It is thought he slipped while working and in trying to prevent himself from falling grasped a live wire and his neck accidentally touched another live wire. About 2200 volts of electricity passed through him and he fell, striking the ground about ten feet from the pole. His head struck first, fracturing his skull and making a deep gash. Charles Fogleman, who was working with him, ran to his aid but life was evidently extinct. Dr. W. S. Glenn, of State College, was quickly summoned and with other physicians tried to bring him back to life but it was of no avail. Dr. M. J. Locke and Earl Musser, superintendent of the Bellefonte plant, went quickly to the scene but they found him cold in death. The neck of the victim was charred to the throat. His left hand was more than half burned off. He was also injured internally

Mr. Shuey had been in the employ of the State-Centre Company for the past six years and was a valuable man. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Shuey, of Lemont. He was born at Pleasant Gap and had he lived until Monday of this week he would have been 28 years of age. He was married to Miss Sarah Stover, daughter of William Stover, of Boalsburg. He was a very pleasant young man and had hosts of friends, and his untimely death has caused much sorrow and regret. He is survived by his wife and two children: John William Shuey, aged eight years, and A. Louise Shuey, aged 4 years. He is survived by the following brothers and sisters: Dale Shuey, Lemont; Paul Shuey, Bellefonte; Mrs. C. E. Struble, State College; Mrs. George Dunklebarger, Lemont, and Miss Helen Shuey, at home. The funeral cortege left the house at State College Monday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock and proceeded to Boalsburg where the services where held in the Reformed church the pastor, Rev. S. C. Stover, officiating, assisted by Rev. Piper, of Milesburg. Interment was made in the Boalsburg cemetery.

Hustling for Votes.

John Richelsen, of McKean County, candidate for Republican nomination for Congress, is spending several days this week meeting as many Republican voters as possible during his brief stay. As to his reason for his flying visit to Centre County in the closing week of the campaign, Mr. Richelsen said:—

"Many Centre County Republicans have very kindly assured me that they are going to vote for me for Congress next Tuesday, and I am making this little visit more than anything else just to show Centre County Republicans that I appreciate their efforts in my behalf. I am going to carry McKean County by a substantial majority; that is absolutely certain. I would be more than proud to add to that a strong majority indorsing my candidacy in Centre County. Cameron County will be for me, and I will get a nice vote in Clearfield Couty. I cannot meet every Centre County Republican at this time, but I want each and every one to know that his vote for me will count and furthermore that I will appreciate it. I am entirely satisfied that I will win next Tuesday, but jet me repeat that if defeated my coat is off to help elect the man who wins out. Thats the kind of a Republican I am."

Big Interest in Baseball.

The baseball interest is livening up in Bellefonte. The "Red Cross League", composed of the three wards of Bellefonte, is drawing large crowds to the Hughes athletic field every Tuesday and Friday evening with games that are interesting. Up until Tuesday evening the teams were about even as to the scores but on this occasion the South ward sort of hung it on the West ward by the score of 11 to 1. The West warders therefore have their "Dutch up" and on next Friday evening they expect to square up matters by defeating the North ward. This will be a great game and should be witnessed by a large crowd. Remember every 10 cent admission goes to the Red Cross to help defeat the Kaiser and make America free.

LETTER FROM FORTRESS MONROE

Written by Dr. J. C. Helfrich who is Doing Hospital Work at This Camp.

Dr. J. C. Helfrich, of Bellefonte, is one of the men who is anxious to do his bit towards winning the war for "Uncle Sam" and making the world free from German autocracy. He tried to get into the service twice but on account of his eyes being weak he was turned down by two war boards. Not wishing to be outwitted he went to Washington, D. C., and remained there several weeks at his own expense, in order that he might work out some practical way whereby he could enter the service. He returned rather disappointed but a short time afterward he received orders to report at Camp Dix. Since that time he has been working up gradually and only a short time ago he was sent to Fortress Monroe, Va. As he practices osteopathy it was his opinion that before he could practice in the army he would have to take a special course in allopathy or homeopathy but the War Department has recognized his methods of practice and has given him a special room to work in. In a recent letter to friends in Bellefonte he says: "This is my eighth week in the army and I am getting to feel quite at home. Weiare kept busy here in the post hospital. Lectures, drill, practical work, eat and sleep fill out the day. The two latter are always welcome for we are both hungry and tired when the time comes for those things. Affairs are conducted on a large scale at this post, and and we get experience in all variety of diseases which makes the work both interesting and instructive. The surrounding country is beautiful and a great place for automobiles. Many a time I wish I had my Grant car here but cars and soldiers don't mix.

We have a congenial class of men here, a great many being from Philadelphia. I had known some of them while in old Pennsylvania and you may be sure we are having a pleasant time. There are about one hundred men here at the hospital and perhaps twelve thousand men in the fort, mostly coast artillery and aviation. Each day there are large battle ships going from the harbor, all interesting sights. This week the bathing houses are to be opened and then we will have some real sport when off duty. Earl Orr is located at Newport News, about twelve miles from here. That is also some great military post. I have been there five times. Orr is looking good and likes the ordnance work very much. From all indications this outfit, or rather the medical men connected with it, will get to France before the summer is over. It can't come too soon for me for the real stuff is over on the other side and I want to help the fellows and at the same time it will give me some good. practical experience.

With kindest regards,

J. C. Helfrich.

KYLERTOWN AGED MAN TARRED AND FEATHERED

Michael Moyer Thus Persuaded to Buy Liberty Bond.

ALSO DISPLAYED FLAG

Residents of Bellefonte who returned home recently from Kylertown, which is located in Clearfield County a few miles beyond the Centre County line, tell of heroic measures adopted a short time ago to persuade Michael Moyer to display the American flag from his home and also to purchase a Liberty Bond. A liberal quantity of tar and feathers was tossed upon his head and shoulders and the remedy was so effctive that he climbed a ladder and nailed a flag to the roof of his home and then subscribed to the Liberty Loan which is to be used to help defeat the Kaiser.

Moyer, who is an aged man, is a native of Germany but is a naturalized citizen of the United States. It is said that he frequently spoke of how persons in Germany were oppressed and how he himself had difficulty in earning sufficient money with which to come to the United States where better opportunities were afforded him. Nevertheless, when canvassers approached him with Liberty Bonds some time ago Moyer refused to subscribe. He also declined to display an American flag from his home.

When Moyer's views in regard to Liberty Bonds and the American flag became known to the people of Kylertown and Winburne, which is located at the county line, a number of them took it upon themselves to notify him that his course was anything but popular and that he owed it to his adopted country to give practical demonstration of his patriotism. This apparently failed to swerve him and finally a group of Kylertown and Winburne citizens escorted him to an alley not far from his home and applied tar and feathers to his head and beard and also inside his shirt. This attended to they escorted Moyer back to his home and he lost no time in nailing a flag to the house and also purchasing a Liberty Bond.

FIVE DANGEROUS MEN

Found in Philipsburg Tuesday by United States Marshall—Sent to Harrisburg.

Recently Philipsburg was thrown into a fever of excitement over several Germans who were holding meetings and drinking carousals to celebrate German victories. They were also opposed to purchasing Liberty Bonds and Postal Saving Stamps. The citizens of that community considered them dangerous men and anything but desirable citizens. Their names are Henry Litz, George Plexnies, Hans Probster, Herman Kreamer and William Jack.

The Chamber of Commerce of Philipsburg got into communication with the United States District Attorney at Scranton who told the authorities to lock them up until he would send a United States Marshall who appeared on the scene Tuesday. In searching the men's baggage they found papers and photographs which indicated that they were anything but desirable citizens. One of the crowd, Henry Litz, had papers and newspaper clippings in his possession which indicated that he was a German reserve officer; that money had been sent him by the German government, together with instructions to return to Germany, via Switzerland, and take charge of a U boat. When confronted with this evidence, Litz confessed that it was true, but said that he lost his nerve and returned the money.

A newspaper clipping in his possession showed that he had been arrested in New York city for making threats against Presideut Wilson, and for a while he was interned at Ellis Island. In his confession, Litz stated that two of the other men, Hans Probster, and William Jack, who were posing as Austrians, were German born and bred. He said that three years ago these same two men were with him on a ship which was engaged in transporting Germans to Tampico, Mexico.

It further developed that two of the men, George Pleaxie and Hans Probster were receiving word of German war activities from two to three days prior to the news being published in the American press. No amount of questioning could force the men to divulge their source of information.

On the head of the evidence submitted to the U. S. District Attorney's office, the government decided that the men were dangerous characters and ordered them removed to Harrisburg for further investigation, after which they will be placed in internment camps.

SPROUL LIKELY WINNER OVER J. DENNY O'NEILL

Nomination for Governor by Republicans Predicted.

LIVELY LOCAL FIGHTS

The primary campaign for candidates for Governor and other State officers, which closes on Tuesday of next week, has been one of the quietest known in many years. Candidates will also be nominated for Judge of the Superior Court.

In ordinary times the bitter Republican factional contest for nominations for Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of Internal Affairs and four Congressman-at-Large, would attract widespread interest, but the war is uppermost in the public mind and politics seemingly excites but passing notice. It would be surprising if the vote polled next Tuesday at the primaries runs more than fifty per cent of that normally recorded in a gubernatorial campaign, particularly one featured by partisan strife. The bulk of the vote on the 21st will likely be polled in the boroughs and towns. Farmers are busy and in all likelihood many will not leave their work to go to the polls.

For Governor the Republican contest for nomination is between State Senator William C. Sproul, of Chester, who has the Penrose organization backing, and State Highway Commissioner J. Denny O'Neill, who is supported by the Brumbaugh administration. Both are committed to prohibition. Philadelphia will in all likelihood be the keynote to the result. There the Vares are fighting the Penrose State leadership, but supposedly are not opposing but in fact quietly supporting the Sproul candidacy. Should this policy be continued it undoubtedly means the nomination of Sproul. For Democratic for nomination J. F. Guffey, of Pittsburgh, and Municipal Judge Eugene C. Bonniwell, of Philadelphia, are opposing candidates. Guffey is the re-organization element candidate and is committed to prohibition. Judge Bonniwell is regarded as a "wet" candidate, his campaign slogan being "personal liberty" for all citizens.

Even more bitter than the contest for Republican nomination for Governor is that for Lieutenant Governor. For this place on the ticket the Penrose organization is backing State Senator E. E. Beidelman, of Harrisburg, and the Brumbaugh administration is behind Congressman John R. K. Scott, of Philadelphia. The difference in the two factional contests in question is that the Vares in Philadelphia are centering their full strength behind the candidacy of Scott, and the latter is being battered right and left by the Penrose forces and independent organizations whose support Penrose is usually able to command when his leadership is under fire. O'Neill and Scott have been campaigning together over the State, which fact is interpreted by some to mean that Scott's sponsors, the Vares, will turn in for O'Neill at the eleventh hour. This is, however, mere surmise. The one sure prophecy is that the Vares will throw their strength to the man they believe is most likely to win.

For Secretary of Internal Affairs the Penrose organization is backing Representative James F. Woodward, of Allegheny County, while the Brumbaugh administration candidate is the present incumbent in that office, Paul W. Houck, of Schuylkill County. Here and there pronounced Penrose adherents are supporting Houck on personal grounds, The number includes Auditor General Snyder, who is also from Schuylkill County.

Local interest is occupied chiefly with the contests for Congress and Legislature. Four Republicans are in the field for nomination for Congress, and the result is a toss-up. The four are John Richelsen and Evan J. Jones, of McKean County, and Wm. I. Swoope and Dr. Jonathan Currier, of Clearfield County. Richelsen claims that he will win by a substantial margin in his home county. He is putting up a strenuous campaign for the indorsement of Centre County Republicans. Jones supporters anticipated that he would score heavily in Philipsburg and Rush Township. Philipsburg Republicans held a meeting one night last week and indorsed Swoope. The Democratic nomination lies between Colonel Hugh S. Taylor, of Bellefonte, and W. E. Tobias, of Clearfield.

The Republican contest for nomination for Legislature is exciting more interest possibly than even that for Congress, the opposing candidates being Assemblyman Harry B. Scott, of Philipsburg, and Ives L. Harvey, of Bellefonte. Both are committed to prohibition, but the most pronounced temperance leaders are actively espousing the candidacy of Harvey. Scott's candidacy was strongly endorsed by Philipsburg Republicans at the same they declared for Swoope for Congress as well as for Sproul for Governor.

John Noll, of Bellefonte, is unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

Asked Prayers for Troops.

As most all the Centre County troops went from Bellefonte to Camp Hancock, Augusta, Ga., it will be of local interest to know how the boys conducted themselves while they were under the parental roof. A dispatch from Augusta has the following to say of them as they left Camp Hancock for Camp Upton, N. Y.:

Commending the men of the Keystone division at Camp Hancock for the manly way in which they have conducted themselves since coming to Augusta, and calling upon the people of this community to offer up prayers for the safety of these splendid fellows, the finance committee of city council, in special session yesterday afternoon, adopted the following resolutions:

WHEREAS, The cries of Belgium, the heroic sufferings of France, the murder of women and children, have called together in our midst at Camp Hancock the flower of Pennsylvania's young manhood, that they might be equipped to battle for country's and mankind's cause; and,

WHEREAS, This splendid set of manly fellows have demonstrated that they possess the finest sense of honor, the clearest conception of duty, and the deepest realization of courtesy and refinement and are dominated above all with such a love of country that they have placed upon its altar their lives and pledged to it their sacred honor; and,

WHEREAS, They have removed from this community and State the last vestige of sectionalism, a remuant of days that are gone, and have woven themselves into our hearts with their manly bearing and their self-sacrifice that democracy may not perish from the face of the earth, and that the unspeakable Hun shall not prevail; and,

"Whereas, This division of heroes will possibly soon depart from our city for the battlefields of France, to help pay the dept we owe to France, to ourselves, and to our children and children's children,

Therefore, Be it resolved by the finance committee of the city council of Augusta, Ga., that we express to our compatriots and friends, the said Twenty-eighth Division, our appreciation and love for their courtesy and manly bearing while in our midst and for the noble sacrifice they have made and are to make on what we know will be fields of suffering, but of heroic sacrifice and glory in France;

Be it further resolved, That we bespeak for said Twenty-eighth Division the daily supplications of this community to a Most High Being for their safety and for their glory along with the prayers for our own boys who, too, are making the supreme sacrifice that we may live as free men.

Senator Miller in Town.

State Senator S. J. Miller, of Madera, who is unopposed for Republican nomination at the primaries next Tuesday, greeting numerous friends in Bellefonte yesterday. He has made no attempt to do campaigning until the present week.

About two months ago his son, who went to France as a soldier, was reported missing. Senator Miller at once abandoned all thought of his campaign and devoted his time day and night to endeavoring to secure definite word as to his son's fate. For a number of weeks he was unable to learn anything and finally concluded that his son was dead. He received a cablegram on Monday saying that his son was a prisoner in a German camp.

LETTER FROM CAMP

Walter McCullough Writes of Experiences Salvaging Air Planes.

Walter McCullough was employed in the offices of the State Road department, Bellefonte. Sometime after the United States had entered the war he, with Prof. Eugene Weik, principal of the High School, enlisted. Recently Fred Crafts, of Bellefonte, received rather an interesting letter from Mr. McCullough from Benbrook, Texas, a portion of which is about as follows. He is in the 274 Aero Squadron, at Camp Talia Ferro, No. 3. He went from here to Camp Dix and on going to Benbrook as they passed over the prairie he saw several draft and aviation camps. He was only at the camp a short time when they were called out to parade and drill. While the names were being called he found that a cousin of his, whom he had not seen for fifteen years, was in command of the camp. Neither one knew the other until he heard the name McCullough. It, of course, was a pleasant meeting. It happened that the commander needed a squadron clerk and McCullough was given the place. He was then in the line of promotion, and a few days later warrants were handed out to non-commissioned officers and he was made a corporal. An aero squadron was then organized at Benbrook and he was assigned to it to handle new men as they came in. They slept in tents, five beds to a tent, with a little conical shaped stove, and used candles for light.

There were many machines at the field as it was a training school for the Canadian flyers, they having wooden barracks to sleep in while the squadron lived in tents. Mr. McCullough started in to learn the salvage end of the work preparatory to taking over the field by the United States. He had charge of twenty men whose duty it was to receive all parts of planes, etc., which were broken after a machine had fallen from the air. Serviceable parts were sent to the repair shop while the broken parts were scrapped. It was very interesting from the fact that several planes would come in a week and they would all have to be torn down and the good parts saved. He can now look at most any part of a machine and tell where it belongs, and the name of it. Later he was moved to the 274 squadron and the second night there it rained and filled the tent with water. It seemed as if all the water for miles around ran through the tent. There are fifteen big Packard and six Studebaker trucks in camp every night and are crowded with the boys going to Fort Worth which is fourteen miles away. Fort Worth is a town of 94,000 and having 1,000,000 troops within a radius of fourteen miles. At night the place is packed with the boys. Personally he has a private pass to be in Fort Worth from retreat until reveille. The officers are princes and will do anything that is right for the boys. The other day while out on the parade grounds the officer halted the column and handed out several warrants to non-commissioned officers. Mr. McCullough again had the luck of being promoted to sergeant. This gives him many added privileges, together with a private room and be taken to Fort Worth in automobiles instead of trucks. He has taken charge of the salvage department and is the chief clerk in charge of all office work and records of the aerial repair shop.

In regard to flying the Canadian officers (many of them from the front) can surely cut the air with a flying machine but the American flyers have them beaten to a standstill. Pilots go up 5000 feet or more and when they come down it is in a series of from four to ten "loop the loops." As many as twenty-five planes are often seen in the air at one time and when some of them land they are broken to pieces. In a majority of cases the operator is simply injured and not killed. During the past year there have been about eighty deaths. It was at this field that Vernon Castle was killed.

Twenty Years Ago.

In looking back to twenty years ago the Philipsburg Ledger says:

Miss Emma Montgomery, of Bellefonte, is visiting her cousin, Mrs. Frank Lukenbach, in town.

Sam Graham came home from Mt. Gretna Thursday evening looking a gallant soldier boy, and with corporal's chevrons on his sleeves, to enlist ten recruits to make out the 81 members of his company. He went to Bellefonte last evening taking with him 20 recruits. Several hundred people gathered at the Beech Creek station to see the boys off on the 6.55 train and cheered them heartily as the train pulled out, and the cannon roared a martial farewell.

May See Active Service.

At the regular weekly drill and maneuver of the Pennsylvania Reserve Militia, on Friday evening, the announcement was made that all units of the State Militia will become a part of the United Federal Reserve force and may be used for active service within the borders of the United States, and will not be taken abroad. The orders were received with hearty cheers by the local guard. Members of these units as in other war times will be given an opportunity to continue in the service or be dropped from the rolls.

Miners Go Over the Top

Hon. Harry B. Scott, of Philipsburg, is the owner of what is known as Colorado Coal Mine located at Munson, Centre County. He employs 125 men and a short time ago the miners requested Mr. Scott to purchase a flag which by the way, is the third one raised at this particular shaft. Last Friday the flag was raised when S. B. Wiles secretary of the Philipsurg Chamber of Commerce and Mr. Scott made addresses. The latter stated he appreciated the loyalty of his men in the purchase of Liberty Loan Bonds but in order that his appreciation might take a more substantial form than mere words, he stated that a War Thrift Stamp would be given to every man in his employ at this mine in each pay envelope until they had a card filled. This card will be worth $5.00 in 1923. He also stated that he would subscribe an equal amount in Liberty Bonds to the amount taken by his men, the credit of this subscription to go to the local committee. This means that, as the men raised $7000, Mr. Scott had to subscribe for another $7000 worth of bonds in addition to the large amount he has already purchased. This is the type of patriotism which cannot be doubted. This offer was greeted with prolonged applause by the men.

Reception to Hon. H. B. Scott.

Saturday evening a reception was given to Hon. Harry B. Scott, of Philipsburg, at State College. It was held at Nittany Inn at 8 o'clock and the Ferguson township band was present to enliven the occasion. While the meeting was gotten up in a hurry there were many prominent citizens present from the borough, Harris, Ferguson and College townships. It was a very pleasant gathering and everybody enjoyed meeting Mr. Scott and those associated with him in the campaign.

The reception committee was composed of the following well known townsmen: Philip D. Foster, chairman, Ray D. Gilliland, George T. Graham, F. A. Robinson, James M. Williams, C. L. Goodling and H. A. Leitzell.

Another Red Cross Drive.

The American Red Cross must be sustained. Last year they raised a War Fund of $100,000,000. The money contributed at that time will have been all expended by early this summer it is officially announced, and in order that this tremendous work of humanity may be carried on the President has designated the week of May 20th, 1918, as Red Cross week, during which the public will be appealed to for another hundred million dollar contribution.

Get ready! Do all you can.

Rounding up Slackers.

Men in Bellefonte and Centre County who are of draft age should keep their registration cards in their pockets to avoid a whole lot of trouble. The government has men out rounding up slackers and they may put in their appearance here any time. Men found without cards are arrested as draft dodgers. Explanations that the cards are at home will positively not be accepted as excuses.

Our Public Debt.

A lady of Bellefonte asked us to give the public debt to date. On February 28th the debt was $9,324,200,752 compared with $973,357,250 on January 21st, 1917, having been multiplied about ten times since the war began. It costs relatively more now than it did at the beginning of the year.

IDEAL SITE FOR REST CURE

City of Santa Cruz de la Sierra, in Bolivia, Practically a Place of Absolute Silence.

"The only tropical city of Bolivia, it stands some 1,500 feet above sea level so far from the outside world that mail deposited on January 7 reached New York on March 11. Of the 19,000 inhabitants of Santa Cruz de la Sierra 11,000 are female," Harry A. Franck writes in the Century.

"It is a city of silence. Spreading over a dead flat, half sandy, jungled plain, its right angled streets are deep in reddish sand in which not only its shod feet, by no means in the majority, though the upper class is almost foppish in dress, but even the solid wooden wheels of its clumsy ox carts make not a sound. There is no modern industry to lend its strident voice, though the town boasts three 'steam establishments' for the making of ice, the grinding of maize and the sawing of lumber, and every street fades away at either end into the whispering jungle. Narrow sidewalks of porous red bricks, roofed by the wide overhanging eaves of the houses, often upheld by pillars or poles, line most of the streets. But these are by no means continuous, and being commonly high above the street level and often taken up entirely, especially of an evening, by the families, who consider this their veranda rather than the pedestrian's right of way, the latter generally finds it easier to plod through the sand of the street itself."

Beautiful Chinese Gardens.

From time immemorial China has been called the flowery kingdom, a name given by the Chinese themselves and singularly suited to the land which for ages was like an oasis of flowers of the spirit in the world desert of barbarism, observes the New York World.

In this oasis grew the arts of the bronze and stone worker, of the silk maker and embroiderer, of the potter, of the painter on silk, of the poet, philosopher and ethical devotee.

But China was not named the flowery kingdom because of these flowers of the mind. Her flora is one of the most luxuriant in the world. It is estimated to consist of some 12,000 species, 9,000 of which are known and one-half of which are indigenous and not found elsewhere.

Such being the flora of China, it is readily understood that horticulture and gardening early became a skilled and honored profession.

POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT.

Houck's Home Endorsement a Strong One.

Pottsville, Pa., May 4, 1918.

The candidacy of Hon. Paul W. Houck for the Republican nomination for Secretary of Internal Affairs, the office he is now holding by appointment, is stronly endorsed in his home county of Schuylkill. Including the three Common Pleas Judges, the Orphans Court Judge, the Congressman and members of the Legislature, the present Auditor General of the State, and every county official in this county have formed a general committee to further Mr. Houck's campaign. It is the strongest endersement ever given a candidate in this section.

In the many positions of public service to which Mr. Houck has been called, he has demonstrated one prominent characteristic to a marked degree—sincerity of purpose—true to his friends and true to the obligations of his official position. In every position of trust, notably those of Chief Clerk to the County Commissioners and Referee for the Compensation Bureau, as well as the higher and more important position he now fills, he has shown marked ability and a conscientious fidelity.

Mr. Houck's party loyalty is a cardinal principle with him, and has won for him a prominent place in the councils of the party leaders of the State, where his good judgment and political sagacity is often sought and followed. He has strong supporters in all factions of the party, and that he enjoys the confidence of the leaders of every faction of the party was evidenced by the fact that he was the only appointee to receive the unanimous endorsement of the State Senate.

Mr. Houck is Vice President of the State League of Republican Clubs, a prominent member of the Central Republican Club of Pottsville, the Roosevelt Republican Club of Shenandoah, the Patriotic League of Schuylkill county, Vice President of Pennsylvania Society of Pennsylvania, Trustee of the Coaldale State Hospital, member of Pennsylvania Society of New York, the Engineers Society of Pennsylvania, the Harrisburg Club, the Elks, and the Moose. He is an ex-Deputy State President of Fraternal Order of Eagles. He served as a member of the Legislature and was the author of the bill creating Columbus Day, and he supported all legislation in the interest of the masses.

SPROUL SWEEP LOOKS CERTAIN

Likely to Carry State by Majority of. 80,000.

MASSES RALLY TO HIS SUPPORT

Is Particularly Strong Among Thinking Voters Who Want a High-Class Man Placed in the Chief Executive's Chair at Harrisburg—Leading Newspapers Backing His Candidacy.

Philadelphia, May 14.—There are strong indications that Senator William C. Sproul will sweep Pennsylvania for the Republican nomination for Governor at the Primary Election next Tuesday by a majority ranging anywhere from 60,000 to 80,000. If there is a large turnout of voters, the Sproul lead may even exceed the 80,000 mark.

Those in charge of Senator Sproul's headquarters here claim that not one of his three opponents will be able to carry more than five or six small counties, and even these may be put in the doubtful column.

The people of this state seemed to rally to Senator Sproul's support right from the outset of his candidacy. Different reasons may be attributed for this general response.

The twenty years' service of Senator Sproul in the upper branch of the Pennsylvania General Assembly has given him a prominence of a statewide character. During that period he fathered some of the most important pieces of legislation now on the Pennsylvania statute books, and, of course, this is responsible for the general feeling that he fully measures up to the requirements of a chief executive of a state as important as Pennsylvania. Finally, it is more than probable that the large army of Republicans throughout the commonwealth want to see in the chief executive's chair a high-class man, one who would not stoop to small things, and who would at all times place the fair name and fame of his native state above personal political ambition and self-aggrandizement. Thus it is that the people want Sproul for Governor, and the Republicans next Tuesday intend to nominate him by a mighty large vote.

People's Real Business.

On account of the war, Senator Sproul has not attempted to canvass the various counties of the state. He has felt all along that the question of winning the war is the real business before every American at the present moment and essentially before the people and government of Pennsylvania; that this is no time for a man to peddle political wares in an effort to reach an office. He has, therefore, contented himself with making a few speeches and visiting sections of the state, rather than taking in every county. Even on these trips, Senator Sproul frequently has forgotton that he is running for Governor, and confined most of his remarks to the titanic struggle now going on in Europe. For instance, in his speech at Lancaster, he said:

"Without this state, its men and women and what they produce, this country would not be in this war overnight. Yes, without the co-operation of a dozen counties in Pennsylvania, half of them in the east and half of them in the west, America would be helpless in this great struggle. If we do not win this war and dictate the terms of peace, it will be our fate, if it shall not indeed be worse, to be resolved into an armed camp for the next generation at least."

No Time For Ranting.

On this same occasion, Senator Sproul paid his respects to candidates for office who are running up and down the state trying to stir up the people on false issues inspired by selfish ambitions. He summed up this condition and type of politicians as follows:

"This is no time for pettifogging and ranting. The people are not interested in small matters nor small men, it is time for action. We are hunting elephants today, not mice."

A gratifying feature of Senator Sproul's candidacy is the general support it has received from the influential newspapers of Pennsylvania. For instance, every newspaper in Philadelphia that has declared itself for a candidate for Governor is heart and soul for Senator Sproul, and the same condition exists in Pittsburgh, Scranton, Wilkes-Barre, Harrisburg and other populous municipalities. The editors of these publications, men of learning, good judgment and discernment evidently recognize in Senator Sproul a candidate for Governor who measures up fully to the requirements of that great office at a time as crucial as the present, one who would be a Governor unshackled by any political faction and free and independent to serve the people to the best of his ability.

Aid to Farmers.

Being the owner of several large farms, it is not surprising that Senator Sproul is receiving many words of encouragement from citizens who reside in agricultural centers. That he is familiar with the needs of the farmer may be gathered from the following paragraph in his platform:

"Our farmers need encouragement to enable them to help as they would in the national crisis. A great production on Pennsylvania's farms would mean better food for our workers, better living conditions in our cities, less congestion on our railways, more grain for our allies and more money for our grangers. The price of the farmer's staple has been fixed, too low, I hold in comparison with the prices of other commodities and out of proportion with the increasing costs of production. Our smaller farms are hard set to compete with the great ranches of the west in grain production, but our wheat and corn is fixed at the same price per bushel. In fixing prices on other commodities natural conditions and costs have been considered, but the farmer with a ten-acre side-hill wheat field in Pennsylvania gets no more for his grain than the prairie rancher who harvests ten thousand acres. There is no fairness in that and Pennsylvania's interests should be vigorously represented in any future discussion of grain prices. Much can be done by the state to assist the farmer in practical ways. Our agricultural organization is cumbersome and loosely coupled-up. It could be made efficient in a way that would bring results quickly in the enthusiasm of Pennsylvania farmers and the increase in their crops and capital."

Silk-Making Butterflies.

There is a species of butterfly, native to British East Africa, that builds communal nests as big as a man's two fists. These nests, attached to branches of the trees on whose leaves the insects as caterpillars feed, are made of a good quality of silk.

Inside the nest, however, are some hundreds of individual cocoons. Thus one might say that the bunch represents a whole flock of butterflies.

But the important point is that the silk of the cocoons is comparable in quality to that spun by the silkworm, and claim is made that it might be utilized profitably for the weaving of fabrics, the coarser material of the nests finding industrial employment as "floss."

Mr. Flatbush—Have you responded to Mrs. Bensonhurst's invitation to her party?

Mrs. Flatbush—Yes.

"Did you write her today?"

"No, I didn't write; I used the telephone."

"Used the telephone? Why, that's no way to respond to an invitation to a party."

"Why not? Ours is a party wire, isn't it?"—Yonkers Statesman.

He Had a Plan.

A little five-year-old chap recently moved into a new neighborhood. A day or so later he observed some little girls playing in a yard a few doors away, and asked his mother if he could go and play with them. His mother refused his request, remarking that the little girls didn't know him.

"Well," he replied, "couldn't I get relationed to 'em?"

Family Well Represented in War.

Practically all the members of the family of Henry Phipps, pioneer steel man and millionaire philanthropist, have been called into war service.

Of his sons, John S. Phipps is a captain in the aviation division of the United States Signal corps; Hal C Phipps is a captain in the ordnance department at Washington, and Howard Phipps is preparing for a commission in the regular army. Mrs. Amy Phipps Guest, a daughter, has converted her palatial London home into a hospital. Frederick Guest, husband of Mrs. Guest, is a captain in the British army, and Bradley Martin, Jr., husband of Helen Phipps, is a major in the United States army.

Appreciated British Oysters.

As early as 50 B. C. the fame of the British oyster had extended as far as Rome, and Sallust seems to have been more impressed by the oyster than by any other feature of the country, for he wrote: "The poor Britons—there is some good in them, after all—they produce an oyster." In 80 A. D. oysters were exported from the Thames estuary to Rome, and ever since that time England has had an oyster industry of respectable proportions, although for many years the supply has been inadequate to fill London's gigantic demands, and importations from the United States, Holland and France have been necessary.

"American girls are afraid to risk their necks, that is why the circus is composed mostly of foreign performers".

So affirms Marie Lorth, English equestrienne with the Sparks circus, which will spread its tents in Bellefonte for performances next Thursday, May 23rd. She bases her assertion on the proof that there are few American women in the equestrian ring today.

"Almost all circus riders are French, Italian or English according to Lorth." The women in America are too timid to risk their lives on the backs of swiftly moving horses, and so they seek positions in the choruses of theatrical companies, where they find it difficult to progress.

"There is more chance for promotion and certainly greater distinction in being a performer in the circus ring than in the chorus of a musical show.

"Of course, you know many of the foreign women are apprenticed in the circus work from youth, and bareback riding is handed down from one generation to another. But then, there are plenty of women who start in on their own responsibility and become successful in the equestrian ring."

Tuesday, May 21st, is primary election day. If you fail to go to the polls and vote, don't complain if the nominations fail to please you.

With the farmer being urged to do his duty by sticking to the job on the farm and also importuned to do his duty by knocking off work to go to the polls next Tuesday he is naturally finding it difficult to figure out just what really is his duty.

Let every candidate who enters the primaries next Tuesday abide by the decision of the voters. The fellow who can't take a licking hasn't any business takeing a hand in politics.

The only semblance of a breeze in the Republican congressional primary campaign was furnished a few nights ago by Philipsburg Republicans when they held a meeting and indorsed Wm. I. Swoope, of Clearfield. Prior to that the word had been passed down the line that Philipsburg would line up solidly for Jones. "Billy's" popularity among Philipsburg people did the trick. Who says that neighbors can't be friendly?

An Appeal to Farmers.

A wheat crisis is now at hand. England and France are hungry and will need every kernel of our wheat to keep off starvation until the coming harvest brings relief. The first duty, the most patriotic duty, of every Pennsylvania farmer should be to deliver all available wheat to market at once, before May 20th if possible.

Refusing or even delaying to sell wheat at the present time is unpatriotic. Over 90 per cent of the farmers of Pennsylvania have already sold their wheat; the other 10 per cent should do so. Let every farmer who has disposed of his wheat, make of himself a "Minute Man" to see that all other farmers do likewise. Hoarding farmers and Pro-German farmers are becoming more and more uncommon in Pennsylvania.

Some farmers have not sold their wheat because of local physical difficulties in getting the wheat to market, such as misunderstanding as to price, failure to secure cars, and the absence of anyone actively interested in buying and shipping wheat. Arrangements have now been put into effect whereby local millers and warehousemen will buy all wheat offered. If you have wheat and meet with any difficulty in disposing of it, report the situation to your County Food Administrator or to the County Farm Bureau Agent and the matter will have prompt attention and relief.

Make it a matter of local pride to see that there are no wheat slackers in your section. Due allowance must be made for wheat requirements for seed and flour. Beyond this, every bushel should be moved to market at once. If this can be accomplished, it will be an achievement of which the farmers of Pennsylvania may be proud.

I appeal to you as loyal, patriotic Pennsylvanians who have never failed the Nation when it was in peril, to market this wheat now so that it may be said no commandeering was necessary in this great State.

W. FRED REYNOLDS,
Food Admr. Centre Co.

Rufus E. Bedlyon Dead.

Rufus E. Bedlyon, the victim of the shooting accident at the "Barrens" near George Thompson's sawmill on April 18th, an account of which appeared in The Republican, died last Thursday about noon in the Bellefonte hospital. The news came as a severe shock to his many friends as there was every indication that he was on a fair way to recovery.

Political Announcements

FOR CONGRESS.

The Republican is authorized to make announcement of the candidacy of Evan J. Jones, of Bradford, McKean County, for Republican nomination for Congress in the Twenty-first Congressional District, composed of the counties of Centre, Clearfield, McKean and Cameron, at the primaries to be held on May 21st, 1918, subject to the decision of the Republican electors of the district. The support of all Republicans at the primaries is kindly solicited.

We are authorized to announce the name of William Irvin Swoope, of Clearfield, Clearfield County, Pa., as a candidate for Congressman, to represent the Twenty-first Congressional District, composed of Clearfield, Centre, Cameron and McKean Counties. Subject to the rules of the Republican party. Primaries May 21st, 1918.

BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN:—Please announce that I am a candidate for Congress from the 21st district, subject to the decision of the Republican primaries on May 21st, 1918.

The present hour of our national life is one which may well inspire any patriot to participation in public affairs. Momentous questions o war and of peace are now under discussion and will continue to present delicate and complex problems for solution.

The constituency of the 21st Congressional District, which embraces the counties of Cameron, Centre, Clearfield and McKean, will designate by popular vote its choice for the important seat in Congress. We will cheerfully submit to the will of the majority.

In presenting my candidacy at this time, I declare my unqualified endorsement and assent to five fundamental matters:

1. Vigorous prosecution of the war to a successful climax.
2. The full weight of American influence for future protection against war, for international arbitration and for world-wide comity of nations.
3. Protection of American industry, with justice to both capital and labor, during the war and thereafter, along the line of policies which constitutes the platform of the Republican party.
4. The prohibition amendment to the constitution.
5. The woman suffrage amendment.

Respectfully yours,
JOHN RICHELSEN,
Bradford, McKean Co.,
Pennsylvania.

THE REPUBLICAN s authorized to announce the candidacy of Dr. J. Currier, of Grampian, Clearfield County, for Republican nomination for Congress in the Twenty-first district, composed of Centre, Clearfield, McKean and Cameron Counties, subject to the decision of the Republican voters as may be expressed at the primaries to be held on May 21st, 1918. Dr. Currier respectfully asks a careful inquiry into his qualifications to capably represent the Twenty-first District in Congress and respectfully solicits the support of all Republicans at the primaries.

FOR STATE SENATOR

THE REPUBLICAN is authorized to announce the name of S. J. Miller, of Madera, Clearfield County, for nomination for State Senator in the 34th Senatorial District, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the uniform primaries on May 21st, 1918. The support of all Republicans is kindly solicited.

FOR ASSEMBLY.

THE REPUBLICAN is authorized to announce the name of Harry B. Scott, of Philipsburg, for Republican nomination for Representative in the Legislature, subject to the decision of the Republican voters of Centre County as may be expressed by them at the primaries on May 21st, 1918. Mr. Scott respectfully asks the support of all Republicans at the primaries.

THE REPUBLICAN s authorized to announce the name of Ives L. Harvey, of Bellefonte, for Republican nomination for Representative in the Legislature, subject to the decision of the Republican voters of Centre County as may be expressed by them at the primaries on May 21st, 1918. Mr. Harvey respectfully asks the support of all Republicans at the primaries.

Tindall—Labe.

Sunday Theodore Tindall, of New York State, and Mrs. Cyrus Labe, left Bellefonte for New York for the purpose of being united in marriage on Tuesday of this week. Mrs. George Lose, the mother of Mrs. Labe, has not heard from them but in all probability the marriage ceremony was performed. On Sunday Mrs. Labe telephoned to Mrs. Victor Holt, of Lock Haven, to come and take care of her little daughter, Elizabeth Labe, until they returned. The bride was formerly Miss Annie Lose and the groom came to Bellefonte as a repairer of typewriters, and it was his intention to locate here permanently.

Do Your Duty.

Memorial Day next. Let us more than "properly" observe it this year; let us have a greater and more general observance of the day and in the right spirit than we ever had. After the last veteran of the Civil War passes away there will be hundreds of thousands of new graves to decorate, thus Decoration Day will be observed in this country for the next hundred years.

Jitney Service.

Wagner Geiss, of Bellefonte, has placed on the road a new jitney service with Paul Mallory as driver. He will be at the service of the public at all times.

AUDITOR'S NOTICE.

The undersigned, an Auditor appointed by the Orphan's Court of Centre County, to distribute the funds in the hands of N. B. Spangler, Administrator d. b. n. c. t. a., of the estate of H. Y. Stitzer, late of Bellefonte Borough, Centre County, Pennsylvania, deceased, to and amongst the parties entitled thereto, will attend to the duties of his appointment at his office at No. 3, East High Street on Tuesday, June 11th, 1918 at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day when and where all parties interested are requested to present their claims before the undersigned or be forever barred from coming in upon the said fund.

ARTHUR C. DALE,
Bellefonte, Penna. Auditor.

Couldn't Scare Beavers

So troublesome have beavers become to the farmers along the Walla Walla river that one rancher erected a beaver "scarecrow," which was effective the first night. On the second night the beavers cut down the scarecrow and used it in their dam.

MAKE THE NATION DRY

THE LITTLE HOUSE

By JACK LAWTON.

(Copyright, 1918, Western Newspaper Union.)

Richard Ellis viewed from the hill the miles he would have to walk in order to dine at his boarding place in the village below. When his work of road construction should be in progress he would have to consider some means of transition; the present state of the land made this difficult.

Like a white square on the hillside stood a cottage; he remembered having passed it on his upward way. What a strange, detached home it must be, far from neighboring habitation. Perhaps it might be possible to procure a light luncheon there. The door, when he reached the house, stood open, disclosing to the farthest corner one wide room. It was a remarkable room for an humble country cottage. While the floor was scrubbed guiltless of varnish, the walls were lined with shelves of books.

A pictorial calendar, with a verse for each day, drew his attention; curiously, the verses were printed in German. Upon the window seat, among its artistic cushions, were scattered various maps and drawings.

Then between two bookcases opened what he had fancied to be an outer door, and a girl appeared from the interior. A glorious creature she was, small, yet with an unmistakable air of dignity

"I am a civil engineer—Richard Ellis," he explained; "we are going to put through a road. My boarding place in the village seemed too far away at dinner time, and I hoped to get a glass of milk and some bread at a farmhouse, but," he smiled engagingly, "I find this is decidedly not a farmhouse."

The girl gravely considered. "Still," she said, "we may be able to provide you with a cup of coffee." She moved indifferently toward the prepared table. "Make yourself at home," she invited.

In strange diffidence, the usually confident engineer obeyed. When, with her regal air, the girl had prepared his coffee, she went out into the porch. It was all pleasantly mysterious. Ellis enjoyed the perfect salad, and wondered who the deuce his queenly hostess might be. The matter of remuneration troubled him; he could imagine her scorn at the suggestion of payment. Yet he felt like an interloper calmly partaking of her food.

The girl promptly relieved him on this score. "I asked you to stay," she said, as he appeared upon the porch, "in order to gain information about the new road. Please explain to me concisely, just how and where it is going."

The engineer stared in astonishment. Her question had the sound of a command.

"It is not customary—" he began hesitatingly, and for the first time the girl laughed.

"No?" she questioned, as steadily she faced him. "Then, Mr. Ellis, engineer," she challenged, "stop in again, say tomorrow, and you shall see your wonderful plans, as they are not now, but as they will be when completed."

"I do not understand you," Ellis repeated slowly. With strange reluctance he turned to depart.

The girl pointed to the village below. "Down there," she said, mockingly, "they will tell you all about me."

It was impossible to concentrate upon the duty of the afternoon because of her haunting personality.

"Who lives there?" he asked of Sammie, associate engineer.

"The lady of mystery," Sammie answered. "Why, haven't you heard? She comes galloping into town on a black horse, with a great dog in tow. They have it figured out here that she's in the employ of the German government, mapping out the country and all that. Look out for the black eyes, Dickie, or she'll have you hypnotized."

To Richard's memory came quickly the girl's boasted knowledge of his work, her own avowal that she had entertained him in order to gain information.

"I came," he greeted, "to have you fulfill your promise concerning my outline of work."

In her own pretty, serious way, the girl bowed, and placed in his hands the completed blueprint map of the road.

"But, how?" he asked perplexedly.

Again the girl laughed, and dropping her manner of reserve, seated herself on the step at his side.

"What am I now," she asked naively, "a defaulter in hiding, a German spy, or just disappointed in love? They have had me all three at the village."

Ellis gazed tensely into the black eyes. "What are you?" he asked. "That is what I wanted to know myself."

"I shall only disappoint you," the girl replied. "It is so simple. My father is Lewis Kain, chief engineer. When I learned that he must be away from home long, I begged to come with him and keep house. He sent on our man to fix up this shack, and then was called away the very night of our arrival. There was no reason why I should not wait in this peaceful spot, his return. My dog is a fine bodyguard. I helped father with these maps and prints—we two are great chums. That's all," she ended, and arose abruptly.

"Then I shall see you again!" cried Richard Ellis, his voice ringing with a hidden joy.

No one could have called the girl's eyes somber as she flashed him a smile. "Father will need you here often," she said.

Gentleman of Old China.

A poor man he was, but his dignity of bearing and manner would have done justice to a Greek philosopher or a Roman senator. And his attire was in accord with his patrician demeanor, Luther Anderson writes in Asia. He wore a gray silk gown which reached almost to his ankles and over it a short sleeveless coat of black velvet buttoned down the left side with knotted cords. The long gown concealed his trousers, excepting at the bottom, where they were neatly wrapped around his ankles and held in place by ribbonlike bands, which also covered the tops of his white stockings. His shoes were of black satin but for the soles, which were made of layers of padded cotton cloth. He wore a tight-fitting skull cap of black satin, faced with slender cords of red silk that came together at the top in a knot resembling a button. In summer he always carried a fan, which he handled in a graceful manner.

Disastrous Fire at Altoona.

Fire of unknown and mysterious origin destroyed the J B. Fluke & Son planing mill and lumber yard, Fifth avenue, between Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth streets, Saturday night, with two frame dwellings, and damaged nine other houses, entailing a loss of $150,000.

No insurance was carried by the Fluke firm, who had stocked up heavily for much work this summer. The losses, owing to war time prices for machinery and lumber, are heavy. Only about $30,000 worth of the property affected by the conflagration was insured.

Boys' Reserve.

Monday afternoon 108 boys, from Pittsburgh and that vicinity arrived in Bellefonte and were taken from here to State College where they are taking a two weeks' course in how to work on the farm. They are known as the Boys' Reserve and after they get through at the College will return to Pittsburgh and from there will be assigned to the various farms of Western Pennsylvania for a period of three months. They are all husky looking chaps and appear as if they will be of great service on the farm.

M. I. Gardner in the Coal Business.

The other day a large coal deal was consummated whereby the coal lands and mines of the Mike Burris estated, located near Houtzdale, Clearfield county, were turned over to a company composed of M. A. Caldwell, John H. Weir, O. J. Morris, of Clearfield, and M. I. Gardner, formerly of Bellefonte, but now a resident of Clearfield. The partners of Mr. Garner are among the leading business men of Clearfield county, whose honesty and intergity is unquestioned, thus he is on the way to prosperity, as the coal business is booming. Mr. Gardner is a conscientious business man who will do his part to make the enterprise a success.

The price paid for the property was $60,000 and on Monday they new company started operations. They expect to load about five hundred tons a months and have orders for all the coal they can mine. The proposition is said to be one of the best in that locality, and it being in the hands of competant coal operators there is hardly any question but that it will be a winner.

A UNIQUE GRAVE.

John W. Gingery Places Son's Picture on His Wife's Resting Place.

In what is known as Emerick's cemetery, located a short distance on this side of Unionville, Bald Eagle valley, can be seen a grave, the enviroments of which are rather unique. At this spot, beneath the sod, lie the remains of Mrs. John W. Gingery, of Brownsville, Penna., whose maiden name was Miss Annie Kreamer, of Pleasant Gap. She died six years ago and since that time it has been the custom of Mr. Gingery to visit his wife's grave each year, just before Memorial Day, and bedeck it with flowers. Instead of their being plucked fresh from the branch of a rose bush they are artificial and are always placed under large glass tubes, and the lower part sealed to prevent them from becoming soiled or withered by the inclemency of the weather.

Saturday Mr. Gingery appeared in Bellefonte with a large boquet of flowers. He came on the Pennsy-Lehigh flyer at 1,35 o'clock and at 4.44. took the train for Unionville. Besides the regular amount of artificial flowers he brought with him an extra glass tube or covering. In this he placed a picture frame and on one side of the glass in the frame is a faired sized photograph of his son, George Duey Gingery, who enlisted in the navy and is about to be moved from Camp Grant, Rockford, Ill., to Camp Hancock, Augusta, Ga. From there he expects to go to Camp Upton, N. Y. and likely he will sail for France in a very short time. On the opposite side of the glass is a flag and a star, showing that the boy is in the service. The father is very proud of the boy because he is in the war and has taken this method of showing his friends and relatives in Centre county what the young soldier looks like and that he is faithfully serving his country.

Mrs. Owen Johnson Dead.

Complications following child birth two weeks previously resulted in the death last Thursday of Mrs. Owen Johnson, wife of the well known novelist, at the Emergency Hospital at Washington, D. C. Funeral services were held at Boalsburg on Sunday and the body placed in the family vault on the Colonel Theodore Davis Boal estate. The deceased was aged 32 years. She was well known in Bellefonte. Before her marriage on July 2, 1917, she was Miss Cecille Denis de Lagarde. She was born at Chigens, France, educated in a convent and came to this country about twenty years ago with Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Davis Boal, Mrs. Boal being her sister. Her residence in this country was divided between Boalsburg, Centre County, and Washington. When the war broke out in 1914 she immediately sailed for France and enrolled as a Red Cross nurse. She gave her ancestral home at Chambray to the French government for a base hospital.

She personally worked there and at Cannes until the spring of 1917, when she returned to this country to solicit funds for Red Cross work in her native country.

Captain Boal remained in Washington until early in the week and then, Mrs. Johnson being considered on a sure way to recovery, started for France.

The survivors are her husband and two weeks old son, her sister, Mrs. Theodore Davis Boal, and another sister, the wife of a Russian nobleman and living in that country.

Alfred Lucas Dead.

Saturday morning Alfred Lucas passed away in the Altoona hospital, the result of a complication of diseases. He was the son of the late Alfred and Nora Lucas and was born at Howard, October 4th, 1880. He spent his younger days in the town of his birth where he was educated in the public schools. Twelve years ago he went to Tyrone where he became a salesman. Later he accepted a position with the Logan Valley Trolley Co.

Mr. Lucas left Tyrone several years ago and went to Altoona where he was one of accommodation conductors for the trolley company, lately filling the position as an extra dispatcher. He was a member of the Church of Christ of Howard and an active member of Pride of Mountain City council, Jr. O. U. A. M., of Altoona. He was also a member of the Modern Woodmen and the Logan Valley and Altoona Relief association. September, 1916 he was united in marriage with Miss Bernice Emory, of Tyrone, who with three children, Louise, Olive and Buddie, survive a loving husband and father's death. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon and the remains were taken to Tyrone for interment.

State Federation of Women.

The Central District of the State Federation of Women was the guest of the Woman's Club of State College last Thursday. The address of welcome was made by Mrs. Arthur Cowell, President of State College Woman's Club. The response was made by Mrs. J. Thomas Mitchell, of Bellefonte, president of the Central District. Other addresses were made by Dr. Sparks, Mrs. L. D. Jessamine, State College, and Mrs. J. Willis Martin, of Philadelphia. The Bellefonte Club was represented by Mrs. J. Thomas Mitchell, Mrs. John Lyon, Mrs. Harry Keller, Mrs. John McSulley, Mrs. Harry Badger, Mrs. Edward Struble, Miss Lyde Thomas, Mrs. Kate Dinges, Mrs. Charles Keichline, Mrs. R. S. Bronse, Mrs. J. C. Harper, Miss Caroline Valentine, Mrs. Harry Valentine and Mrs. John I. Olewine.

Mrs. J. R. McCord Dead.

Mrs. Rhoda, widow of J. R. McCord, whose serious illness from pneumonia was noted in our columns recently, died at her home at Black Moshannon, Rush township, at 3.30 o'clock on Sunday morning. The deceased's maiden name was Miss Rhoda Nason. She was aged about 68 years. Her husband, J. R. McCord, died on September 6, 1909, and was buried at Beaver Mills. Two children survive, viz; Osborne and Miss Phoebe, both at home. She also leaves two brothers, Jack and Osborne Nason, well known residents of Julian. Mrs. McCord had for many years been a consistent member of the Baptist church. She was a noble christian woman. The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at 1.30.

Died in Washington.

Benjamin Hamer (colored) passed away last week in Washington, Pa., from tuberculosis from which he had been suffering several years. He was born in Bellefonte 28 years ago. A number of years ago his mother was employed at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. R. W. Hale, now the home of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Andrews, and the young man did chores about the house. His remains were brought here Friday and taken to the home of William Stuart, on Penn Street, from where the funeral was held Saturday.

A Wonderful Free Lecture

There should be a large congregation at the Bellefonte Methodist church next Saturday evening to hear Rev. Elmer Williams speak. His subject on that occasion will be "Hogs, Hell and Hohenzollern." Only a few years ago Rev. Williams resided in Chicago and made a vigerous fight against the great evils of that city. At that time he was known as the "Fighting Parson." He was bitterly persecuted by the evil-doers but he kept on fighting and accomplished a great, wonderful work in that city. He was born and raised at Martha and thus Centre county can feel honored in giving to the world such a distinguished christian gentlemen. He was called east to do a special work and he is accomplishing it in a most marvelous way. Let the people from the country districts come and hear him Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Waring, of Tyrone, will be here to sing. This alone would furnish excellent entertainment.

Daily Prayer Service.

Interesting prayer services are being held each day at 12 o'clock all over the United States. The people are beginning to realize that soldiers, amunitions and guns will be of no avail in winning this war if the Lord is passed by unrecognized. "In Him we live, move and have our being." Each day at the noon hour quite a number of christian people of Bellefonte are meeting in prayer for fifteen minutes in the Methodist Sunday School room. There ought to be more interest taken in the matter and our people should heed the call to this special season of prayer for the guidance and blessing of Almighty God to be with the United States and our advisors in these trying times. The young men in the trenches also need the prayers of those at home. The Methodist bell rings every day at noon to remind the people of their duty. Let there be a large turn out each day.

Miss Hurley Entertains.

Miss Hazel Hurley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hurley, last Friday evening entertained the High School graduating class and it proved a very pretty social affair. The front porch, parlor and dining room were decorated with spruce and the class colors which made a charming combination. There were present twenty-eight young ladies and gentlemen who in the coming June will bid farewell to the public schools and enter some other vocation in life. Miss Hurley proved to be an extraordinary hostess and everything was well planned for the comfort and enjoyment of her school friends. Refreshments were served and the evening was enjoyed with music, dancing and games.

Political Announcement

Candidate for Assembly.

IVES L. HARVEY

I desire to announce my candidacy for Representative in the General Assembly, subject to the decision of the Republican voters of Centre County, at the Primary Election to be held May 21, 1918, on the following principles:—

Loyal support of the principles that will make the world safe for Liberty, and win the war in the shortest time possible.

Ratification of the Prohibition Amendment to the Federal Constitution.

The adoption of State wide Prohibition until the Federal Amendment can come into operation in order to conserve the food supply for our Army and Allies.

Better maintenance of State roads already constructed, and the construction of as many others, as the revenue of the State will reasonably permit.

Liberal and established appropriations for Pennsylvania State College and hospitals.

Equal Suffrage,

IVES L. HARVY,
Bellefonte, Pa.

From the Philipsburg Journal:

"William Irvin Swoope For Congress"

In the event of the nomination of William Irvin Swoope, Esq., of Clearfield county as the Republican candidate for Congress from the twenty-first district, the campaign is likely to prove most interesting, for he is a campaign orator of national repute and would very likely stump the district in his own behalf. In all the national campaigns since 1896 he has been one of the leading speakers, traveling over a dozen states, and since 1894 has been a campaign speaker for the state committee.

William Irvin Swoope is a native of the county-seat of Clearfield, a son of United States District Attorney H. Bucher Swoope. He was educated in the Curwensville public schools, Harvard University and Harvard Law School. He is one of the leading attorneys of Central Pennsylvania and served as Republican county chairman, has been delegate to the state convention, and was elected by a large majority as the delegate from his district to the national convention.

A live wire-party man, Mr. Swoope, would prove a formidable candidate, and in event of his election to Congress, make a very able representative."

JOHN RICHELSEN

To The Republican Voters!

As a candidate for Congress, I have gone directly to you, Republican voters, and presented myself for your approval or disapproval. I am ready cheerfully to abide by your decision. I believe I am qualified to represent your interests in Congress, and if elected will do everything in my power to serve you.

I am the general manager of the Bon Air Sanatorium for Tuberculosis in Bradford and also of the Tuberculosis Hospital in Oil City, in which work I have had much business experience while keeping in touch with the needs of the common people. Since the beginning of the war I have been one of the Government's Four Minute Men and have given much time, under Government direction, to this work. I am the only candidate endorsed by the Dry Federation.

Just as you and every other true American citizen so earnestly desires, I want to do all in my power to help win this war, to establish and preserve peace throughout the world for all time to come. If elected to congress I know I can help in many ways---and whenever my vote is needed on any measure that will further help and strengthen and encourage our boys "over there" you may rest assured I will be on hand ready and willing to do my part.

I ask your influence and vote and will seek to prove myself worthy of your confidence if you will support me.

Respectfully yours,

Bradford, Pa., May 15, 1918 JOHN RICHELSEN.

EXPLAINING ANTICS OF BEAN

Nothing Really Mysterious About Seeds Which Furnish Mexican Peons Cheap Gambling Paraphernalia.

One of the favorite amusements of the Mexican peon is the game he calls "los brincones," which might be translated "the jumpers." A circle of dusky laborers grouped about an apparently empty space in the sunny dust is a characteristic sight south of the Rio Grande. The objects of interest, invisible to the casual eye, are the "brincones," or jumping beans.

The game is one calculated to appeal to the Mexican temperament, being a form of pure gambling associated with the irreducible minimum of physical effort. To the visitor it bears also a touch of mystery.

The players draw a small circle in the dust and lay therein a number of little brown beans, which are really not beans at all, but the seeds of some native plant. Exposed to the rays of the sun and the solemn gaze of the players, after a time the beans begin to move. They turn, they stir, they actually hop about. The lure of chance consists in betting on which bean will first jump out of the circle, and apparently the game is fair. There would seem to be no way of "framing" the mysterious beans.

The Mexican neither knows nor cares why the beans jump, though their behavior is most unusual for members of the vegetable kingdom. Asked for an explanation, he will shrug and remark that it is the nature of "brincones" to jump. Why question the wisdom of providence, which has seen fit to provide her children with a cheap and satisfactory apparatus for games of chance?

Science, however, steps in with the explanation that the innocent brown bean in question is the home of a certain larvae, whose spasmodic movements early in life are responsible for the antics of its vegetable home.

SING TO SETTLE QUARRELS

Eskimos Have Manner of Adjusting Grievances That Is Said to Work Satisfactorily to Them.

The Eskimos, who live in the ice-bound, barren northland, have a way of settling quarrels which seems very strange and amusing to those who live in a land of policemen and courts of justice. There, when quarrels arise, the man who has a grievance writes a song in which he tells the wrongs that have been done him. When this has been composed to his satisfaction he invites his enemy to come and hear him sing it. This the enemy must do, and he brings with him all his relatives and many of his friends, while the singer also has gathered his friends and relatives for the occasion, which is considered something of a general entertainment by the people of the village in which the men live.

Then, while other men of the village pound madly on huge drums, the song of wrongs is begun. When it is finished, if the audience expresses approval, the singer is considered to have won and to have a just cause of complaint. But if dissatisfaction is expressed, that is considered sufficient punishment. After the song every one dances and the party breaks up in great good humor.

No Wonder.

"I called Smith a hard name just now."

"He doesn't seem to be displeased."

"Why should he be? I told him he a brick."

The other day Robert Hunter, of Bellefonte passed through Millersburg, Dauphin County, in his automobile. It is his custom to try and keep within the speed limit law of any town or city, and thus avoid depleting his bank account. He had hardly reached home from his trip when he received a letter from the justice of the peace of that town claiming from him a $12 fine for driving on the wrong side of the monument that stands in the centre of the diamond of the town. "Bob" was much exercised over the transaction because at the time he was trying to carry out the road law to the letter, and why he should be "pinched" was a puzzling question to him. He claims he did not see any sign requesting the public to drive either to the left or right of the monument.

Prof. L. J. Barlet, who for the past two years has been principal of the Haines township High School, Aaronsburg, was recently elected principal of the public schools at Centre Hall. The salary fixed was $125 per month.

The home and big barn of Jacob Sharer, east of Centre Hall, have been wired for electric light by Messrs. Boozer and McClenahan. There are now several farm buildings down the Brushvalley road ready for the current, the State-Centre at the present time only having the poles in the ground.

With the arrival of young Goodhart, Millheim now has six gallant sons on French soil, as follows: Sergt. Gervis E. Stover, P. Byron Musser, Henry Brown, Orvis Corman and Jay Winegardner.

In looking back thirty-five years years ago Fred Kurtz, the Editor of the Centre Hall Reporter said: "The telephone wire at Pleasant Gap was struck by lightning one night last week. The fluid followed into Noll's store where the bell connected with the instrument, was melted. It knocked the talk out of the entire line between Centre Hall and Bellefonte.

Lawyer N. B. Spangler, of Bellefonte, is making some extended repairs to his residence on East High Street. He is having large windows placed in both the parlor and dining room, a brick fire place and mantel is being built in the parlor and hard wood floors will be laid. A steam heating plant will be placed in the cellar and other improvements made The property is one of the oldest in the town and when "Ben" Bradley, the carpenter, was tearing down the old work, to make place for the new, he found homemade nails had been used and the window frames put together with wooden pins instead of nails.

NO WORD FROM MUSSER.

Friends Confident His Shortage in Accounts Smaller Than Estimated.

No word has been received by Bellefonte friends from W. Horace Musser who left town some time ago and whose accounts were found to be considerably entangled. The investigation into Musser's affairs as far as it has gone has led some of his friends to the confident belief that the shortage is considerably less than was first estimated and that had he but remained here and made known his troubles to them everything could easily have been straightened out.

As the true facts are coming to light Musser's friends express more sympathy than ever for him. It is their firm conviction that he did not plan in advance to go away, but that his going was the result of a sudden impulse. That his intentions were of the best is established by an incident that happened a few days before he went away. He had talked over matters with his wife and told her of his intention of having J. Kennedy Johnston, the attorney, help him straighten everything out. He called at Mr. Johnston's office, but unfortunately the latter was out at the time. Musser left the office with the explanation that he would return. Had he met Mr. Johnston when he called at the attorney's office it is entirely probable that matters would have adjusted themselves satisfactorily all around. Further substantiation of the belief that Musser had no pre-arranged plan to go away is found in the fact that his check book shows payments to clients as late as the middle of April. Had he been planning to leave town it is not likely he would have made these payments. Knowing these facts there are friends of Musser who would help him meet the situation if he were to return. It is their hope that he will do so.

The American Surety Company of New York, which was on Musser's bond as tax collector for Milesburg Borough and the Milesburg School Board, has a representative in town working on the entangled accounts. The company has taken over his affairs so far as they apply to Milesburg and will proceed with the collection of taxes until the provisions of the bond are complied with.

Read "The Republican" $1.50 a year in advance.

Mr. Habgood in Town.

Robert P. Habgood, of Bradford, McKean County, was a Bellefonte visitor last Thursday in the interest of his candidacy for Republican nomination for Governor. An interesting incident in connection with his over-night stay in town was his mentioning the fact that his birthday anniversary is May 21st, the day of the primaries. He was born in Bellefonte and it is his hope that Bellefonte Republicans as well as others throughout Centre County will give him not only a complimentary vote because of this fact but also avail themselves of the opportunity to make their votes serve as a very appropriate and timely birthday present. Mr. Habgood made a very favorable impression on Bellefonte citizens whom he met during his brief visit. His principal argument in behalf of his candidacy was that he had presented himself as a candidate allied with no faction and that factionalism if continued would be detrimental to the party. Before departing for Williamsport, where he addressed a meeting of workingmen, Mr. Habgood remarked that he would look for the primary returns from Bellefonte and Centre County and that he would appreciate every vote cast for him for Governor.

Hefferan Not a Slacker.

Among the twenty-four Centre County selectives listed by the Local Board as failing to fill out questionnaries, and published in the county papers last week was the name of Francis J. Hefferan, of Osceola Mills.

Since the list was published the Local Board received notice, identical with one forwarded to The Republican office, to the effect that Hefferan was far from deserving the term "slacker" as applied to the delinquents, for he volunteered his services to his country on December 12, 1917, and is now stationed at Fort Morgan, Alabama, as a member of Company 2, C. A. C.

The mistake was occasioned because of the fact that Hefferan's questionnaire was returned to the Local Board and no report was ever made to the effect that he had enlisted, yet in justice to the young man we cheerfully make this correction and explanation as he volunteered and was in the military service before the questionnaire was mailed to his home address and doubtless knew nothing about it, so that instead of censure he deserves high commendation. Incidentally the Local Board is delighted to receive a report that has occasioned the striking of Hefferan's name from the delinquent list.

WHAT CAN I DO?

Every good American wants to do something for the cause. And there are many ways to help, even if you can't wear the "olive drab" or the "navy blue."

One of them is to save clothes so that more wool and labor can be released for war work.

When you buy, get clothes that wear a long time; that look well as long as they wear.
